Death of Ben. F. Potter.

The Solomon, Kansas, Tribune, brings us the sad news of the death of Ben. F. Potter, who for many years was a resident of Oregon and vicinity. His death occurred at the home of his daughter Mrs. J. L. Gableforth, at Topeka, Kansas, January 26th 1911, at the age of 86 years, the interment being at Solomon, Kansas, at which place up to some six years ago, he made his home with his granddaughter, Mrs. C. E. Sundahl, and where his wife died some twelve years ago.

The deceased came to the Platte Purchase in 1839, and was present at the first town lot sale in Platte City, and in 1840, he located at White Hall, just north of Savannah. In 1849, he came to Holt county, and resided here until 1887, when he went to Kansas. In 1896 to '97, he was Oregon's postmaster, at that time being in business with T. I. Creek; their store was then just east of the Phillips drug store. He was a native of Wayne County, Indiana. His daughter, Mrs. Nellie Waldmeyer, died at Colby, Kansas, December 9th.

Mr. Frank Patterson, son-in-law of Mr. J. R. Milne, of near Forbes, is out here on a visit with Mr. Milne and family. Mr. Patterson is a carpenter and was relating his experience in helping to build a big barn near Oaktown, Ind., where he lives. The barn in question is 62x86 feet with 20-foot posts, joists 2x10 inches and placed 2 feet apart, except over driveway, where they are only 10 inches apart and are hard wood. There is a 16-foot driveway clear through the center, corn and oats bins over driveway, and the balance of the mow has a tight floor which will either hold grain or hay. Self-feeders for hay, also grain spouts for the grain. One side driveway is taken up with 6-foot stalls for his work horses; the other side, 23x86, is not divided off and is used for his young mules, of which he has a large number. There are 22 full-sized windows. It took 80,000 shingles to roof the barn. He put about 30 acres of cowpea hay in one end of the mow, three carloads of baled clover in the balance and still has room up there for a fair-sized "prize ring." All the frame work is hard wood and the foundation is made out of cement. How does this suit you, Holt county farmer?

Koock's great sale of Boys' Clothing is bringing parents to realize that it's the place to buy that Boy's Knickerbocker PantSuit. They place on sale an absolutely all-wool suit in Blue Serge. Pants cut extra full and full lined—a manly cut suit. The best of value at $5.00 every suit guaranteed all-wool and strictly fast color, or a new suit in its place.

C. W. King and wife were buying goods in St. Joseph last week.

—Norman Enoez and wife have moved from their home north of the Evangelical church and are now making their home with his father, near the colored school house.

—Chas. Bunker has returned from Kansas City, where he spent several days visiting with relatives, and also looking over the lines offered by wholesalers for the coming season.
